Dear John,

Well, a lot has happened the last weekend which has pointed out many things about myself, where I am going if I maintain as I am, and where I am going if I will follow my true "calling".

One thing pointed out to me last night - Wed, was that I am really still running. When we have talked the last 2 times, whenever you got around to talking to me about myself and what I need to do, I suddenly needed to go. This spirit pointed out and made it clear as to why.

So now, I will try to not run away but rather listen. I can't promise I won't run once in awhile but please be ~~pat~~ patient. I will try to listen and hear what you say.

I was about this last weekend how I must take care of my body and health if I am to do all I need to do here. What made the most obvious was Sat night a spot swelled up like when I had cancer and I was sure I had it again all Sunday and Monday I battled with this and Tuesday afternoon it began to go down once again.

spirit then told me that this was a demonstration to show me how much I need to pay attention to my care and my own needs, as well as others. They then explained to me I need to slow my pace some and remove myself from tensions more so my energy is more relaxed. They then explained this is why they can work with my energy so well in the morning because I haven't had the pressures of the day and work hit me yet.

They then explained a great deal more which I am yet dealing with and trying to move through.

all I can say is, John I do want and need your help in this, but please be patient with me. Someday also, let me know how you become aware of all this. I know that if they have you on their side I must really need to be doing more than I am and other than I am, for by seeing someone here in the physical say the same thing Spirit has said all these years is proof enough for the Texan

Thanks for being there -

Love
Jim
